

Chronic Dyspepsia Cured.

AFTER suffering for nearly thirty years from dyspepsia, Mrs. H. E. Dugdale, wife of a prominent business man of Warsaw, N. Y., writes: "For 28 years, I was a constant sufferer from dyspepsia and a weak stomach. The lightest food produced distress, causing severe pain and the formation of gas. No matter how careful of my diet I suffered agonizing pain after eating. I was treated by many physicians and tried numerous remedies without permanent help. Two years ago I began taking Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills and Nerve. Within a week I commenced improving, and persisting in the treatment I was soon able to eat what I liked, with no evil effects. I keep them at hand and a single dose dispels any old symptoms."

Dr. Miles' Remedies are sold by all druggists under a positive guarantee, first bottle benefits or money refunded. Book on diseases of the heart and nerves free. Address, DR. MILES MEDICAL CO., Elkhart, Ind.

POLITICS IN THE WAR.

The Democratic platform adopted in the state convention at Dayton contained a plank which all patriotic citizens regardless of party can well be proud to indorse. It reads as follows:

"We congratulate the brave boys in the army and navy, without respect to party or locality, who have so cheerfully responded to the call of their country, for their skillful and heroic achievements on land and sea. We rejoice that sectional lines have been obliterated and party strife forgotten in the patriotic upholding of our flag and the cordial support given to our government by the whole people of every section of our country. We rejoice that the futile efforts of a few republican leaders to inject partisan strife into a cause belonging to no party and to no section, but to the whole people, has been justly condemned by the patriotism of the country, as they deserve to be.

AN ISSUE FOR THE PEOPLE.

The New York World calls attention to the republican desire to smother the talk about war mismanagement. It says:

"Gen. Grosvenor says we must all stop talking about the disgraceful mismanagement of the war at once. His reason is not that the republican voters of Vermont and Maine have, without any urging from the democrats, shown that they think their leaders have disgraced and are disgracing themselves and the party and the country. No, Gen. Grosvenor has a far higher motive. 'The world' says he, 'should not know that we are dimming the lustre of the victories of our brave boys by such a discussion as is now going on.'"

"The average mind would think that the greater the obstacles which 'our brave boys' overcame, whether made by the enemy or by the blundering heartlessness of the war department, the brighter would be the lustre of their victories.

"Gosvenor also says that if the democrats try to make a campaign issue of the sufferings and deaths of our soldiers in the home camps 'we will whip them in November worse than ever.' But suppose that the people should save the democratic party the trouble of making that issue? Suppose that the people themselves should resolve of themselves to take cognizance of what Mr. McKinley has permitted and is now permitting and seems inclined to continue to permit Alger and Algerism to do? What then, Gen. Grosvenor.

The Indianapolis Sentinel's Washington correspondent, in his account of the grand reception at Washington to the First regiment of that district, says: "Notwithstanding the fact that the First District of Columbia regiment saw service in Cuba, it reached Washington in better physical condition than characterized Colonel Studebaker's regiment after its months of existence in the pestilential camps of Florida, and was certainly not deserving of more recognition. But it got it."

The Democratic Congressional committee figures that 25 members of congress will be gained in Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, basing its estimate on the recent election in the New England states. It gives the following estimate as to the outcome: democrats, 167; republicans, 120; fusion, 26; doubtful, 32. Should the republicans capture all of the doubtful districts they would still have only 161 votes, or 18 less than a majority.

There will be no difficulty in getting the soldier boys to remember Alger and the Maine. It will take some time to make them forget either.

Of the fifty members of the democratic national committee thirty-seven are in favor of the Chicago platform as it stands.

The Philippine insurgents evacuated the suburbs of Manila with flags flying and shouting "Viva Americans."

Medary M. Hathaway.

Here, where Medary M. Hathaway was born thirty-six years ago and has lived all his life, and is known to every man, woman and child, nothing can be said of him that is new—nothing need be said. Whatever and all that he is or has, has come by his own exertion and his unswerving honor and honesty to man or party.

He is "self made" in the full sense of the term. He began as a boy by carrying brick for the erection of the block in a portion of which this is written and printed. But he stepped upward, and reached outward, as true merit always expands.

He laid down the hod to pick up a pen in the county auditor's office as deputy, and there his native courtesy and habitually accommodating disposition made a friend of every one who had business with the office. He earned what he could and saved what he made—paid for what he bought, and told the truth.

Later he shelved the county's books to take up the practice of law, for the preparation of which he had worked every spare moment—studying the "thrilling details" of Coke and Blackstone when others of his age amused themselves or burned the midnight oil while he mastered some perplexing legal proposition. As a member of the law firm of Steis & Hathaway he now divides his time between the duties of the office and the care of the little farm his frugality has enabled him to acquire. He is not rich—except in the possession of a clear conscience and the perfect confidence of all who know him; in that respect he is a multi-millionaire.

Briefly, that is Mont. Hathaway. He will get most votes where he is best known. He will be elected, but if known all over the district as well as he is in Pulaski county his majority would run into five figures.—Pulaski County Democrat.

Wisconsin Troops Homeward Bound.

A large crowd of spectators were at the Pittsburgh depot Saturday afternoon to see Col. Roosevelt's rough riders. The report which raised their expectations was not authentic as Teddy's men had disbanded before that date. The approaching train, however, did not have in store an irreparable disappointment. It had on board a portion of the 2d Wisconsin under Major Gruetzmacher. The following companies were represented: F, commanded by Capt. U. G. Karl; G, commanded by H. E. Pomerooy and H by Capt. Kundson. The regiment had started from Porto Rico, Sept 8 and after arriving in New York had been hurried on with hardly a stop toward Milwaukee, which city they reached last evening. There they will be given a sixty days furlough.

These troops made a bold contrast with the raw Minnesota volunteers who passed through Plymouth the day previous. Their clothes showed the wear of hardship and camp life. One soldier had marked a list of names on his hat each of which stood for a victory of the regiment with other regiments over the enemy. When asked whether any of their number had been slain in battle the reply was, "Oh no! the enemy either surrendered without firing a shot or fired their guns too far away to hit anyone, and ran."

It will be remembered by the 157th that this same regiment camped next to them at Chickamauga.

Death of Rev. Jacob Rothenberger.

The sad news of the death of Jacob Rothenberger, of Lapaz, reached Plymouth Friday morning. He died at that place Sunday of typhoid ailments. His actual confinement was of brief duration.

Mr. Rothenberger was probably the greatest Sunday-school worker Marshall county has ever had. Surely it has never had a more faithful worker. He was a man who was liberal and godly. At the time of his death, besides being a preacher in the Progressive Dunkard church, he was president of the North Township Sunday-school association, having been re-elected to that office for several successive years. His death will be widely mourned.

Dolan Is Not Guilty.

The jury in the Dolan murder case on trial at Michigan City came in at 1:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon and reported that a verdict had been agreed upon. The foreman then handed the slip of paper containing the agreement reached by the 12 men to Judge Tuthill who read the same. It was to the effect,

"We, the jury, find the defendant not guilty. F. T. Herrold, foreman."

Barney Dolan was thereupon discharged from custody.

Accident at Bremen.

Bremen, Ind., Sept. 19.—Philip Wagner, of this place was the victim of an unfortunate accident at the radiator works last Saturday. While tending the grates, which is his regular employment, he mistook a can of gasoline for coal-oil and threw it on the fire. An explosion followed in which the young man was thrown the distance of some seven or eight feet. His face, arms and breast were badly burned. The closest medical attendance is necessary.

The Jewish New Year.

Friday ushered in the year of 6450, according to the Jewish New Year. There will be special services which will serve as an introductory to a series of services ending on the day of atonement, Sept. 26. These services will be more generally observed in Plymouth this year than ever before.

No morphine or opium in Dr. Miles' PAIN PILLS. CURE ALL PAIN. "One cent a dose."

NEW METHODIST SOCIETY.

It Was Organized in the Northwest Conference at Its Last Meeting.

During the meeting of the Northwest Indiana conference of the M. E. church, which closed at Plymouth on Monday, a new society was organized, which proposes to extend its limits to the other conferences, soon to be held. The new society is composed of the wives of the older ministers and the widows and orphans of deceased ministers.

A meeting will be held annually and the members will endeavor to keep in touch with each other by frequent correspondence. An annual membership fee is required, the fund thus created to be used to supplement the regular benevolent work of the church among this class.

CULVER MILITARY ACADEMY OPENS.

Year Begins Under Favorable Circumstances With Increased Attendance.

The Culver Military academy at Lake Maxinkuckee, Ind., opened Wednesday with the largest attendance in the history of the academy. This is the second largest military school of its kind in the United States and 147 cadets from 10 different states have registered. Indications point to a successful year. New barracks will be erected during the year and accommodations to meet the present demand made for 50 more cadets.

DEATH OF SERGEANT SAPP.

He Succumbs to the Disease from Which He Has Been Suffering in Camp.

Warsaw, Ind., Sept. 16.—Capt. C. A. Sharp, of Company H, dispatches from Lexington, Ky., announcing the death of Sergt. Charles Sapp, who has been in an unconscious condition for some time from a complication of typhoid pneumonia.

His home is here in Warsaw. The remains will be brought here for burial. He has relatives in Plymouth.

The Last Band Concert.

Thursday evening the Plymouth band gave their last open-air concert for this season. It was as good as the many rare musical treats it has offered before.

A marked decrease was noticed in the number of auditors, owing probably to the unfavorable weather and the absence of school children.

Prof. Chase's regime is more effective in keeping the youngsters off the streets than the reprimands of their parents or a curfew bell.

With this last concert the citizens of Plymouth should give a hearty vote of thanks. They have played gratis throughout the summer, keeping up their art merely for art's sake. While such bands as Bremen and Argos were recompensed by their townsmen with hard cash, the Plymouth band—or, rather, the Plymouth bands—have donated their services with only the music furnished as a consideration.

Birthday Surprise Party.

Mrs. Lizzie Sponsler had a surprise perpetrated on her Friday evening in honor of her birthday. While she was absent from the house about twenty of her relatives and friends gathered and awaited her return. She was unsuspecting and was considerably shocked when she walked in before them. The evening was spent in various ways. Among several presents, she received a handsome set of dishes.

Fight at Argos.

Argos, Ind., Sept. 19.—Last Saturday evening Jim Drummond and Frank Dawson met on North Walnut street and fought. Dawson was knocked insensible and beaten very seriously. A nine-year-old girl was the only witness. No arrests have been made as yet. The fight was the result of a standing quarrel.

Delicate Children

They do not complain of anything in particular. They eat enough, but keep thin and pale. They appear fairly well, but have no strength. You cannot say they are really sick, and so you call them delicate.

What can be done for them? Our answer is the same that the best physicians have been giving for a quarter of a century. Give them of Cod-Liver Oil with Hypophosphites. It has most remarkable nourishing power. It gives color to the blood. It brings strength to the muscles. It adds power to the nerves. It means robust health and vigor. Even delicate infants rapidly gain in flesh if given a small amount three or four times each day.
